TAKING PRIDE IN THEIR WORK

Fascella Construction Corporation oversees every aspect of a home project and makes sure the job gets done right, on time and on budget. by Matt Cosentino

Chris Fascella is one of those lucky individuals who knew from a young age what he wanted to do for a living, and his dreams came to fruition 30 years ago when he entered the construction industry.

His business, Fascella Construction Corporation (FCC), was born in 1999, and he continues to have a passion for providing custom homes, additions, kitchen and bathroom remodels and much more.

ciation of Home Builders and has an A-plus rating from the Better Business Bureau. As a general contractor, Fascella is able to supervise and coordinate all facets of a project, no matter what the size.

“FCC is your point person—the one with a bird’s-eye view of the project,” he says. “A general contractor obtains building permits and schedules inspections; oversees the work of tradespeople and coordinates schedules to keep the project on track; and keeps clients informed on the progress and aware of any issues that arise.”

Honesty and integrity

While it seems that everyone has a horror story with a contractor who failed to deliver on promises, went way over budget or did not meet deadlines, FCC strives to make a homeowner’s renovation or addition a positive experience.

“We operate like a partner with the client’s best interest in mind to provide a quality project in a timely manner,” Fascella says. “We are an experienced contractor who can provide value and save the client from additional costs and troubles in the long run.”

Communication is critical in every project, with FCC keeping the homeowner informed throughout the process and ensuring that all questions and concerns are addressed promptly.

Top-of-the-line products

FCC not only believes in using top-notch products and materials, but does so at an affordable price. The company’s longstanding relationships with key suppliers and manufacturers allows it to pass savings on to its customers, and those relationships also lead to any problems being rectified as quickly as possible.

“If you’re looking for quality, you want to work with someone like Fascella Construction because we stand by the products we use and we make sure what we’re putting in your home is going to last,” Fascella says.

Professionalism is a priority

Fascella insists on his employees being courteous and making sure work sites are kept clean. Respect for the client and each other is paramount.

“We’re going to treat your home like it’s our own,” he says. “We take pride in our appearance and in turn take pride in what your house will look like.”

Industry trends

Many of the projects FCC has been taking on lately are kitchen renovations, as clients are looking to update the heart of the home with the latest advancements in technology and style. Bathroom remodels are also popular.

“What we’re finding more and more is that people are looking at their homes as a place they want to stay and get older in,” he says. “We help them get comfortable in their homes so they can age in place and not have to worry about moving somewhere else.”

The company is also proficient at basement remodels, exterior work, historic renovations and commercial projects.

“We always tell people, ‘If you have a problem, don’t hesitate to call us,’” Fascella says. “Nine times out of 10, it’s something we can take care of. And if it’s something we don’t do, we’ll help you find somebody who can help you.” H&H

But as much as he enjoys his work, it’s the close bonds he forms with satisfied customers that motivates him day in and day out.

“We like to build relationships and a lot of our business is repeat and word of mouth,” he says. “We have many customers who come back to us a couple years after the initial job, when they’re ready to move on to the next project. Or we hear from people with family members who had a great experience with us and they hope we can do the same for them. If you need something now or down the road, we’re here for you. All you have to do is give us a call.”

Beautiful Inside and Out

Using integrated design, the team at Amazing Decks can take the heart of the home and extend it to the backyard with a stunning, usable outdoor space.

As they approach their 30th year in business, it would be easy for Amazing Decks co-founders Bill Wilson and Keith Fry to become complacent in their work or to rest on their accomplishments from three decades in the industry.

But anyone who encounters the pair soon realizes that the opposite is true. They continue to be passionate about designing and building backyard oases that their customers can enjoy for years to come, and they can draw on their vast experience to avoid common pitfalls.

“When you’ve been in business this long, it becomes easy, because we’ve already made the mistakes and we’ve learned from them,” Wilson says. “We were part of this industry long before it became what it is now. We watched it change from people just having a simple wood deck to now adding a space that can be amazing. It’s a lot of fun and we love helping people out.”

The philosophy at Amazing Decks centers on the idea of integrated home design. This comprehensive approach aims to extend the heart of the home to the outside, creating a large, livable space that can be utilized for everything from a big graduation party to a simple family get-together.

ect that never gets used,” Wilson says. “It would be heartbreaking at the completion to have a homeowner say, ‘I wish we would have done this or that.’ That’s why the design is crucial. It has to be inviting; people want something that feels personal and something that will help them relax.”

To achieve this goal, Amazing Decks puts a great emphasis on the planning stage. While some potential customers will ask for estimates over the phone or through email, it is important for the designers to personally visit the site and get to know the homeowners.

They will ask questions regarding the size of their family, how often they entertain, whether they plan to add a pool, etc.

“We’re interviewing them just like they’re interviewing us,” Wilson says. “Our initial meeting is very easy-going. We get to know the client and find out how they’re going to use the space. Then we’re able to tie everything together and design something in the backyard that they’re going to use. It doesn’t have to be expensive; it just has to be designed right.”

Amazing Decks has often been called upon to fix mistakes by other companies that did not design a backyard space properly. Wilson and Fry are determined to design a space that will not only work now, but in the future, should the homeowners want to add to the space or decide to sell the home.

The many successful jobs the company has completed also tend to stand out in the neighborhood.

“Our designs are unique,” Wilson says. “We do a lot of curves—we have the equipment to curve boards, so a lot of our decks are free-flowing curves. We also integrate other materials, like paver patios or bluestone. Maybe the backyard doesn’t just call for a deck; maybe it calls for a combination of the two. Even though we’re a deck company, we have to be honest with the customer and tell them what will work best.

“We can do patios, walkways, plantings, outdoor low-voltage lighting, grilling stations and fireplaces. Shade is huge as well—every outdoor project should have some sort of roof structure for people to sit under and get shielded from the sun.”

As one of the first companies to install maintenance-free composite boards, Amazing Decks has a longstanding relationship with Trex, perhaps the most well-known name in the industry.

“That’s not to say we won’t work with another manufacturer, but we are primarily a Trex dealer,” Wilson says. “We’ve been using Trex ever since we started the business. They always come out with new products, but the product we’re using now is approximately 11 years old, the Trex Transcend line, and it doesn’t seem like anyone has ever been able to compete with it.

“I like how durable it is; you can drag a chair across it and it won’t scratch. If you spill something on it, you can just wipe it off. Some products will scuff and scratch, but Trex doesn’t. If you look at a Trex deck that’s five or six years old, it looks like we just installed it.”

With the right materials and the right design, a deck built by Amazing Decks can make a major difference, both now and in the future.

“We had a customer who just bought a new house, and we had put the deck on his old house,” Wilson says. “There were four other houses on his street for sale, so he was nervous about putting the house up. But it sold within two weeks of hitting the market. He had offers from every person who saw the house, and they all said it was because of the deck. That was a proud moment. It wasn’t extravagant, it was just designed right.” H&H

NJM Insurance Group outlines home improvement projects to save on homeowners insurance. by Lauren Kubiak

NJM Insurance Group
(833) 253-1807 | NJM.com

There's a lot we must consider when buying or renting a new home: location, cost, size amenities, among others. At the forefront of your concern should be homeowners insurance because protecting assets you accrue over the years is important, and having insurance coverage will save you money in the long run if anything were to happen. However, homeowners insurance premiums can vary widely, ranging anywhere from $600 to over $2,000 annually (all depending on house value and insurance policies).

At NJM Insurance Group (NJM), one of the Mid-Atlantic Region's leading property and casualty insurers, it doesn't matter if you own or rent a house or condo; there are policy options offered to fit your specific needs from HO3 and HO5 policies for owned homes to HO4 for renters and HO6 for condominium owners. The company takes into consideration that it's not only about paying to own a home, but that there are valuable items inside. NJM coverage goes beyond the walls, roof and floors—protecting the items that truly make the house a home.

To understand your homeowners insurance policy, you should make note of everything it can cover. "It covers the structure of the home, any detached structures on the property, personal property in the home such as furniture, clothes and electronics," says Pamela Septer, NJM's property underwriting administrator. "[It covers] loss of use in the event you're unable to reside in your home for a period of time, and it also covers personal liability and medical payments to others."

It's imperative homeowners list more than just the essentials to the homeowners policy. "If you have any jewelry, furs or silverware that are of high value, you'll want to be sure to insure them separately through a Scheduled Personal Property endorsement," Septer says. "In addition, the Identity Fraud Expense endorsement, which would cover you if you have incurred any expenses as a result of identity fraud; Water Backup and, if you have a sump pump, Water Backup and Sump Overflow coverage."

For those who already own a home, a few upgrades can not only increase the value of the home, but also lower the insurance premium. A roof replacement is a big undertaking, but putting off replacing a bad roof can cost more out of your pocket—a leaky or weak roof can cause even more damage inside the home. Likewise, updating pipes inside the home along with electrical wiring and boxes can lower insurance premiums. If you're unsure how a voluntary upgrade will impact your insurance premium, it's best to reach out to your insurance agent or company for answers on how the upgrade could impact the policy.

Aside from upgrades, certain features of the home can qualify you for premium prices or discounted rates. "Certain home features may qualify you, such as protective devices including a fire or burglar alarm, or a smart home system such as a water leak detection system, and also generators, whether automatic or portable, can qualify for discounts," Septer says.

When it comes to claims from clients, the most common NJM sees are "water damage due to pipe breaks and water appliance failures. Also, sump pump overflows, roof leaks and wind damage which result in down trees and missing roof shingles," according to Septer.

"Anyone who owns a home or a condo would need homeowners insurance, or should have homeowners insurance, but also if you rent an apartment, home or a condo, you should consider buying renters insurance," Septer adds. "It's not a mandated coverage, but if somebody has a loss, like a burglary or a fire, it's a very expensive loss. It would really benefit people to have homeowners coverage." NJM encourages taking pictures and video of the home before a loss to substantiate the personal property.

Since 1921, NJM has been providing its clients reliable homeowners coverage for their property and belongings. The insurance company has accrued a number of different insurance policies including Auto and Recreational, Home and Property, Renters, Umbrella and Workers' Compensation for New Jersey, Pennsylvania and Connecticut residents. NJM specializes in different areas, making the company a trustworthy source for insurance needs and customer claim satisfaction. H&H

DREAM-WORTHY DECKS

If you're thinking about having a deck designed and built, then you're likely looking for tips and ideas. We've rounded up lots of advice from local experts who can help guide you to building the deck of your dreams.

By LINDSEY GETZ

Start with Your Wants and Needs

"Deciding on what size, shape and type of deck you want starts with asking some important questions. What do you want the deck to do for you? Do you want a private retreat for your immediate family or an oasis for extended family and neighborhood parties? This will dictate where to begin."

Omar Stoltzfus,
director of sales and marketing

Think Shade

"Customers today ask for many options beyond just a plain deck—often including a shade option on their deck. In many cases this means a roof over the deck or a pergola with customized 'retractable shades' to provide solid shade when it's needed. Both of these options make existing or new decks much more usable. Thus, we end up installing these options both over existing structures as well as brand-new decks. Both of these options also add some architectural interest to what is otherwise a plain, flat surface."

Juan Cardona, owner
Archadeck of Chester
County
(610) 696-3340

Find the Ideal Size and Shape

"The size of your new deck depends on a lot of factors. In my opinion, the house and yard both dictate everything. The deck size should never overpower the house. It should be in proportion—and its shape should match the surroundings. If your yard is sloped, a bi-level deck would enhance that; or, if you have bay windows, an octagonal bump-out would look perfect. A deck should be constructed in a way as to enhance all of the features of both the house and the landscape. Grill bump-outs and octagonal bump-outs don't add a lot of square footage to the project and can really set a deck off. The grill bump-outs tuck the grill in to keep it away from children running around on the deck and it keeps your useable space wide open."

DREAM-WORTHY DECKS

Consider Composite

"Composite decking is the most popular deck material today. It is made of durable, long-lasting material that is stain-resistant and will hold up well to harsh weather—as well as natural wear and tear for up to 50 years. Composite decking won't splinter, rot or become susceptible to insect damage. Additionally, most composite decking won't fade or lighten as much as natural decking would over time."

Materials Matter

"The Trex Transcend product line is the material I like to work with most. The available colors with the Trex Transcend product line seem to be a perfect match to our customers' palette. The durability is the No. 1 reason we like the Transcend line. Decks we have built several years ago still look like they were completed yesterday."

DREAM- WORTHY DECKS

For No Regrets, Find a Reputable Builder

"My best advice in finding a reputable deck builder would be to choose wisely. A reputable deck builder will have proof of insurance, acquire permits and handle inspections, demonstrate excellent customer service and have numerous references and reviews to confirm their quality of work. They may not be the cheapest, but the job will be done right the first time with enduring quality for many years to come."

WASHING WINTER AWAY

Bringing back the sparkle in your home just in time for spring

by Daniel Sean Kaye

It's that time of year again! The sun is warming us up, grass is turning green and flowers are blooming—in short, it's spring. What better way to embrace the transformative power of this time of year than a little outdoor cleaning?

Looking around your property, there are quite a few areas that may need TLC before they have their time in the spotlight. Not only does your yard need its usual attention, but so do your siding, sidewalks, patio, deck, roof and even driveway. Our trusted experts offer their advice on how to tackle these tasks without getting overwhelmed.

LANDSCAPING AND HARDSCAPING

"A spring cleanup is the best way to get your property looking good for the season," says Chris DeMato, owner of Rock Bottom Landscape and Fencing. "First, clean all the debris, leaves and general garbage that may have accumulated over the winter. Raking is the best way to clean your lawn and get rid of any loose debris that can be damaging it," he says, adding that leaf remnants can create bare spots in your lawn. "Planting beds should be re-sculpted and mulch should be cultivated (turned over with a heavy metal rake) at this time. You can judge whether or not you may need fresh mulch, and prune any dead branches."

Hard surfaces around your home should have regular maintenance too. "Power wash hardscape surfaces such as patios, walkways, pool decks and driveways," says DeMato. "This extends the life and the look of a brick paver, stone or asphalt surface. ... After power washing pavers, revitalize your surface with new poly sand and sealant products, which also extend the life of the product. Also, any repair work to patios, steps or walkways should be done prior to power washing."

Beyond just cleaning, Steve Compton, general manager of CKC Landscaping (Paver Restoration too), says to focus on restoration and enhancement. "Whether it's stone, paver work, decking or older projects once done by contractors, we clean them, treat organic stains and pressure wash. For flat surfaces such as decks/patios/pavers we remove organic debris often sitting there for months, staining the surfaces. We clean it to restore luster and take years off the look by removing dirt and gunk out of the pores."

DECKS

"Clean your deck. If you don't, the shady parts get slippery and the wood on the sunny side can dry out and split. If the boards are damaged, you'll have to replace them. You'll also have to re-stain everything since it hides the difference between new and old boards," advises Matt Gallagher, owner of Squeaky Clean Services.

Use someone who understands restoration/enhancement, says Compton. "Our crews are certified craftsmen who can make repairs on decks, retaining walls and patios. Get a company that can do minor and major repairs. It'll save you from getting rid of everything and starting over from scratch. If something during the winter made things bad or weakened an area, this work stops it from getting worse," he says.

ROOFING, SIDING AND MORE

"Winter wreaks havoc, so you may have a lot to do to get your house looking good," says Deven Robillard, owner of Bright Services. He suggests power washing the house and gutters, but also fixing and staining to add longevity to your home's materials.

"It's important to get rid of the algae, mold and moss," explains Shawn Tiller, owner of Sparkling Image Roof and Exterior Cleaning. "Do your basic window washing, maybe wash off the roof and clean the gutters."

"For gutter cleaning, you need to flush everything out with water, repair seams that have worn since parts lose their seal over time," he says. "Cleaning extends the life of stucco, so waterproof it, bridge hairline cracks, use uniform coating and patch water stains."

While there are many areas to deep clean, Tiller says many roofs don't need to be cleaned that often. "Yes, they will be dirtier on their north side, typically the most shaded side of the house, but once every 10 years should suffice. More serious fixes include cracks in siding, gouges in wood, holes in stucco, etc.," he says.

USING PROFESSIONAL HELP

Many people think they can handle these tasks themselves, but that can only lead to more damage.

The main reason for using a professional is peace of mind, says Robillard. "Professionals minimize the damage. So often, homeowners do things themselves that end up costing them big down the road. If they use a trained, affordable service now, they'll spend hundreds but will save themselves from paying thousands."

This couldn't be more important than when it comes to power washing. "When you get into power washing, you need to use low pressure," Robillard says. "No matter if it's vinyl, steel, stucco or other products, deep cleaning doesn't mean blasting or using high pressure. Professionals know to rely on cleaners and using the power washer to rinse things off. If you use a company that relies on high pressure instead of detergent because it's cheaper, they could damage everything."

Many homes in this region have stucco exteriors, which require special methods for cleaning. "Professionals know it's very important to 'soft clean' stucco, since high-pressure power washing can seriously damage the material," says Gallagher. "[Professionals know how to] spray on cleaner at a higher concentration, and then use high volume of water at low pressure. That's the best way to clean stucco as high-pressure can create damage." Stucco also can get dark stains on areas that get wet and stay wet, resulting in fungus. On the sides that get sun, the UV can take away the color and break down the material. "If you don't take care of it, you won't be able to fix it without extensive work," he says.

In addition to exterior power washing services, it's crucial to find a company that repairs and seals areas that may have been damaged over the winter, says DeMato. "A beginner may waste a lot of product while learning how to install it properly," he says, adding now is the time to have an expert address your brick paver and step sinkage, which is very common with our region's changes in climate.

For the vast majority of homes, expert cleaning and professional repairs make a huge difference. "Don't think you have to replace everything and start over," says Compton. "A trained specialist knows how to clean things right and repair things so they last." Find someone with many years in the field who uses products with long lifespans. "If you're sick of how dirty and grimy things are, let an expert fix it and seal it properly so you can enjoy your property for years to come," Compton says. H&H
