Amiano & Son Design-Build

by Matt Cosentino

A family-owned company does not last for half a century, earn the respect of its industry and the admiration of its customers without constantly striving to improve and going the extra mile.

Amiano & Son Design-Build fits that description, and its brand-new showroom set to open this spring is a sign of how the company continues to reach new heights.

A full-service firm offering kitchen and bath remodels and custom additions, Amiano & Son has long prided itself on having an accessible showroom for clients to browse an extensive line of product selections while meeting with friendly and knowledgeable staff. The new space will just take that experience to the next level and help customers get a head start on their dream projects.

We spoke with Gianna Sweet, showroom manager/designer, to learn more about the expansion and the benefits it will have on the design-build process.

What can you tell me about your new showroom opening this spring?

Amiano is very fortunate to be making the move to a 3,500-square-foot building where we will have a larger design center open to the public. Not many builders have a design center with all the design selections that we will have to offer. From tile to cabinetry to plumbing fixtures, our design center will have it all. Whenever you hire a contractor to work on your home, you need to do research to ensure that the company is reputable and professional. Visiting our showroom is a great way to get acquainted with us. You'll get to see firsthand the quality of our products and our work. Whether you are starting a renovation or building your dream home, we are here to help every step of the way. Our experts have years of experience and knowledge about the latest product trends and the building and remodeling process. We work with both trade professionals and homeowners to ensure product selections are perfect for every project.

How can a showroom benefit the customer and the project?

Sometimes seeing a 2D design is not enough for one to decide if they love it or not. Here at Amiano we have the software to show our clients a 3D rendering with the selections they are making right here at our showroom. Our 3D capabilities will let you see what your space will look like before you remodel it. At our design center you not only get to see a conceptual drawing, you also get to touch and feel these options in person. You might like the exterior stone and siding you chose, but when you put them against each other, your opinion might completely change. We have all exterior and interior selections you will need in our one-stop shop. Our design center is where you get to have fun and can play around with different design ideas. This is truly your opportunity to get the look and feel how you have always envisioned it.

Do designers assist clients with selection choices?

Everything we have is under one roof. Nothing is more frustrating than when you want to coordinate selections and you have to drive from one store to the next. We have all our selections as well as tons of pictures with examples of when we have used that selection in other homes. Making decisions can be hard, especially if you are making them on your own. Not only will our designers guide you to what they think looks best together, but they can also help you find alternative options for items you may love but do not fit in your budget.

Are there any new products that will be displayed that you're particularly excited about?

Every day we inspire our clients to create new spaces. We feature many of the popular vendors such as Kohler, Moen, CertainTeed, Hardie, Cambria, MSI and Blanco, to name a few. Our designers will help with all of the details. We are looking to host events to keep homeowners aware of popular trends. H&H

Swim-Mor Pools and Spas

As snow begins to melt and flowers start to bloom, you might be thinking about the long summer days of relaxation to come—but what if you don't have a pool of your own? Cozying up to the neighbor with the lavish backyard or packing up the kids to take them to the community pool for a few hours can be tiresome all on its own; so why not splurge for a resort of your own in the comfort of your backyard?

Luckily, Swim-Mor Pools and Spas is here to give you an energy-efficient, cost-effective and safe pool just in time for the summer.

AN EFFICIENT AND COST-EFFECTIVE CHOICE

A family-owned business for over 51 years, Swim-Mor has introduced many different features recently to ensure pools aren't wasting any resources.

"Many [people] know that a pool will require a pumping system to keep the water clean," says Mike McCool, general manager. "What most do not know is that the single-speed pumps of yesteryear have been updated with pumps that are capable of running at a low speed; thereby drawing less power in the middle of a hot day, while circulating to prevent stagnant water and keeping it sparkling."

"We are having a very exciting Spring Special for our new pools. These include free sunshelf with an umbrella, and two baja chairs."

Swim-Mor even offers LED pool lights for their customers who continue swimming when the sun goes down.

"These bright-colored rotating wonders use only a fraction of the power that older 500-watt pool flood lights gobbled up," explains McCool. "Additionally, they also add protection to the pool by being low voltage so no longer do higher power cables have to be anywhere near the pool water. The lifespan of these lights also prevents having to replace flood light bulbs."

They also offer a cost-effective sanitizing feature called the Jandy Fusion Chlorine and Fusion Soft Salt System.

"These employ a mineral purifier, which enhances low-level chlorines to keep the water purified," explains McCool. "The Fusion Chlorine reduces the amounts of chlorine used over the year saving significant cost there."

PLAYING IT SAFE

If you have little ones, you know that they are fascinated by water—maybe even a bit too much for their own good. So many things could go wrong in just one distracted second, which is why Swim-Mor has thought extensively about how to give their customers the safest pools on the market.

"There are numerous standard safety features built into the pool," says McCool. "The suction points have anti-vortex and anti-entrapment covers that prevent entrapment of fingers or hair and the LED lights that are included are low voltage removing the issue of higher voltage electricity being in the pool water."

And in New Jersey, each backyard with a pool is required to be enclosed with a fence and a self-closing and latching gate. There are even regulations for the fence to be a certain style that prevents anyone from scaling it to access the pool.

"The pools are covered by Meyco Safety Covers over the winter to prevent anyone from falling into the pool when it is not as well tended to," says McCool. "These spring-loaded covers can take the weight of dogs, adults, children and even some of the extreme acts of nature."

Swim-Mor even offers water motion-activated alarms that will loudly alert when it senses a disruption in your pool water.

GET STARTED TODAY

Not only is now the perfect time to give Swim-Mor a call to ensure you will be pool-side come summer time, but they are also running a special that may entice you a bit more.

"We are having a very exciting Spring Special for our new pools," says McCool. "These include free sunshelf with an umbrella, and two baja chairs."

The deal includes what would usually be add-on options at a considerable cost. The sunshelf is the perfect setting for children to play in shallow water with watchful eyes nearby.

"It also has a fun side in bringing the Caribbean vacation feel of lounging in a chair under an umbrella in the cool water on a hot day," says McCool. "Waiter and drinks not included, but encouraged." H&H

Advice on designing a modern-day deck

BY LINDSEY GETZ

With warmer weather comes an increased desire to spend more time outdoors—and there's nowhere better to do that than on your beautiful deck. Whether you have an existing deck that you're looking to spruce up or you are interested in having one built, you already know that a deck is a great way to extend the living—and entertaining—area of your home and to create a reason to get outside.

“In general, homeowners are investing more money in their outdoor spaces, and I don't see that trend going away,” says Juan Cardona, owner of Archadeck of Chester County. “They want to spend more time outside and they need the functional space to do that.”

That has led to decks that are continually bigger and better. Gone are the days where a deck was a tiny space for a table and maybe a grill. Today's homeowners want amenities like entertaining areas, fire features and built-in kitchens, says Cardona.

“Many homeowners are interested in lighting so that they can get more use out of the space,” he adds. “We're also seeing more interest in ways to differentiate the shape of the deck. Homeowners don't just want a simple square.”

Joe Salvatore, president of First State Building & Design, says that they've definitely been incorporating “curvature” into their deck designs. It creates a unique and higher-end look. Salvatore says another trend has been adding a picture-frame design around the perimeter of the deck. This “border” is created using a complementary color to add some visual interest.

“We're also doing multi-level decks for homeowners that don't want just one giant deck but want to create a lot more functional space,” Salvatore adds.

While one level might include a cooking area and “entertainment spot,” a few steps down might take you to another deck that has a table for dining and is a bit more intimate. You can get creative with the design and create a space that works best for you, says Salvatore.

“One of our most popular trends in our deck designs has been adding a section of the deck specifically built for a grill,” adds Michael Jerminski, owner of Get Decked. “It’s a bumpout in which the grill has its own designated area. This is safer and adds very little to the cost of the deck. We also design octagonal bumpouts for extra living space. It creates a modern railing design and adds a great option for landscaping.”

MAKING “ROOM”

For many homeowners, getting maximum use out of the deck means making it more of a “room,” including covered space.

Sean McAleer, owner of Deck Remodelers, says that the Equinox louvered roof has been a very popular addition to their clients’ decks as it offers the “best of both worlds.”

“If you want to let the sun in, you can have it open,” he says. “That’s particularly nice inside of the house—as a permanent structure might block the sunlight from shining into your home. But if you’re outside and need some shade or it starts to rain, you can close it. With built-in rain sensors, it will also automatically close as soon as rain starts. It’s been a big game-changer for us in terms of helping homeowners get even more enjoyment out of their space.”

Marv Esh, owner of Keystone Custom Decks, says that he’s also been getting a lot of requests for adding “structures” to deck spaces in order to make them even more like an outdoor room.

“The most popular trend in outdoor living is to put up structures that provide protection from the elements,” he continues. “From open air porches to screened porches to pergolas, an overhead structure adds a lot of character, added appeal and also extends the outdoor living season. Combine a fireplace or other heating element and you have a space that you can utilize for a longer portion of the season. In addition, this adds value to your property and provides a wow factor.”

ALL Decked Out

For those who have second-story decks, McAleer says that homeowners are also now making use of the space underneath.

“With a dry space underneath, you can add recessed lighting, a fire feature and other amenities to make it a whole other room to enjoy,” he says.

A MATTER OF MATERIAL

In terms of materials, traditional pressure-treated lumber has rapidly been replaced by low-maintenance products like PVC and composite. While this shift is nothing new, the trend shows no signs of slowing down—nor do the contractors we spoke with think it ever will.

“Nobody has time to do the yearly maintenance associated with a wood deck,” says Cardona. “In our region, where the weather is very hard on wood, composite decking is the way to go.”

Bill Wilson, co-owner of Amazing Decks, agrees. He says that when homeowners invest in a project, they like it to be a “once and done” kind of deal.

“These days, homeowners just want those projects completely checked off their list,” he says. “They don’t want maintenance tasks creeping back up on them. They want a beautiful deck that’s maintenance-free.”

“Many clients are choosing composite and vinyl decking options due to the longevity and limited maintenance of these products,” adds Esh. “Decking manufacturers such as TimberTech and Trex are leaders in the industry in terms of the overall quality of products. Today, with the advanced research and development that these companies have put into their products, there has never been a better time to use them.”

Omar Stoltzfus, sales and marketing specialist with Deck Craft Plus, LLC, says that many homeowners are seeing the benefits of these new materials and renovating their existing decks.

“We call that a resurface project, when we’re able to still use the substructures because they are sound,” Stoltzfus says. “The entire process would begin with an inspection to ensure the original deck was built up to code and is structurally sound. If it is, then we can use that subsurface but replace the deck with composite material in order to give the homeowners the low-maintenance benefits.”

Cardona says that as much as 40 percent of his deck work involves doing this—what he calls “re-decking.” He says that there are many homeowners who have decks that are 20 years old but still have structurally sound substructures which can be used in a renovation, saving them a few thousand dollars in building costs.

In terms of cost in general, McAleer adds that homeowners often come into the process assuming that these new materials are going to cost three times or more what traditional lumber does—and they’re often pleasantly surprised that it’s less expensive than they anticipated. When you factor in that you’ll no longer need to perform regular maintenance like washing and staining, it’s more cost effective than many realize.

DREAMING BIG

With so many exciting options out there, Stoltzfus says that homeowners can dream big when it comes to their decks.

“The possibilities are endless in terms of what you can do with your backyard and your entertaining areas,” he adds. “It really comes down to how you want to use the space.”

Wilson agrees.

“A deck is no longer just a space for a table,” he says. “It’s an extension of the heart of the house. It’s like you’re adding a room to your home and anything that comes with that can be part of your space—a roof, a fireplace, a kitchen, water features—it can be whatever you want it to be.” H&H

HARD CHOICES

Beautifying your property can mean many things and one area people don't always think about are the hard surfaces under their feet. Hardscaping has become a crucial facet in design and from the concrete driveway to the flagstone patio, there are various areas that call for different paving materials. House & Home spoke with industry insiders about each variety and where it might be best applied.

By Daniel Sean Kaye

HARD CHOICES

Asphalt

The consensus among many is that asphalt is most fitting for driveways.

“It’s the most affordable, and it’s really durable,” says Michael Harris, owner of Harris Paving Industries, LLC. “Other products can be five times the cost, with half the life span. An asphalt driveway can last 18 to 20 years and offers a lot of control where water is pitched.”

And when compared to concrete, asphalt wins out again. Gianni Calabretta, owner of Maintain It All Paving, says, “Asphalt is less expensive, easier to repair and is flexible, so it better handles the extreme temperature changes in the Northeast.” He says oil stains and spills are not as noticeable on asphalt, and a new layer of asphalt offers a brand-new look at a low cost. To keep it in its best shape, he says to remember to sealcoat the asphalt every two to three years.

For driveways, asphalt is cost effective and 100 percent recyclable, explains Saul Harrison, owner of Harrison Brothers Paving. “We can repair asphalt, while concrete is more expensive and difficult to fix. We can also recycle old asphalt driveways. We just grind it out and make a new driveway.”

Asphalt can also be enhanced for curb appeal, says Chris DeMato, owner of Rock Bottom Landscaping & Fencing. “A combination of asphalt and brick can really enhance the plain black asphalt. Sometimes a border or a nice entranceway of brick can break up the monotony of the plain asphalt,” he says.

Calabretta agrees, adding that Belgian block aprons or edging are something to consider. “These gray stones are set in concrete and provide a long-lasting decorative look.”

A specialty idea that has been growing in interest is the tar-and-chip process, which Harrison says gives the surface the look and texture of a gravel surface. “We’re one of the only companies in the area that does it,” he says. “It’s a beautiful country look.” Other options include red asphalt, which holds color permanently, or the white or beige color asphalt can give based on the color of the rock and granite used. “Stamping asphalt gives a specific look at a fraction of the cost of concrete stamping or using pavement stone,” he says. “There is herringbone or cobblestone. In fact, anything can be matched.”

However, these professionals note that asphalt paving is also a very seasonal business, running mainly March through Thanksgiving. “Good compaction is crucial for asphalt, which is why you don’t do as much during the cold, wet months when the ground isn’t in the best condition,” says Harris. And to keep it in its best shape, homeowners will need to sealcoat the asphalt every two to three years.

Concrete, pavers and natural stone

Concrete has many benefits, including needing less maintenance and lasting longer than many materials. However, it is more difficult to repair than asphalt and can also be damaged by salt and de-icing products in the winter, says Calabretta.

Gwen Kunkel, president of New Castle Artisan, says her company has a process of repairing and resurfacing concrete using a specialized polymer-concrete blend. “We give the homeowner the opportunity to use their strong existing concrete in order to give their home an upgrade,” she says. “Concrete resurfacing allows for affordable ways to create a stunning home upgrade.” This process can be used on any existing concrete—pool decks, driveways, porches and sidewalks, as well as interior projects like basements and garages. “The products are twice as strong as original concrete, and are resistant to chemicals and salt,” she says.

Some suggest man-made pavers where concrete might otherwise be used. Tom Fox is the manager of Eddington Supply, a distributor of EP Henry, CST products and Cambridge Paving Stone. “Where we live in Pennsylvania we have to keep in our minds expansion and contraction. These can cause a lot of cracks. If you use concrete, you’ll need expansion joints every 10 feet and you could still have cracks,” he says. “Interlocking pavers move with the ground. They can be lifted for pipes and wires. They are also good for pool areas since they are anti-slip, and you can change the color, texture and size of the pavers, too.”

One bonus for using pavers, says Fox, is permeability. “This is a big advantage. Water goes between pavers and actually leaves the surface cooler. You can use interlocking sand to stop weeds, as well as special fabric between the stone and bedding sand,” he says.

Fox says that these paver products are especially popular for casting stone walls. “They look like real stone, but the way they are created to be put together means saving time in labor. The structure goes up quicker,” he says, adding that they don’t crack easily, offer tons of designs and can be used in outdoor kitchens, bars, walls and fountains.

“Natural stone and concrete brick pavers have been the most popular products used for patios walkways and pool decks,” says DeMato. “Natural stone is beautiful and can be very unique to each project. As no two stones will be exact, therefore giving a more natural look, however cost can sometimes be prohibitive.”

DeMato says brick paver manufacturers have created products that have a natural stone-look at a much more affordable cost, and there are stone and concrete products that remain cool in hot weather. “Brick manufacturers are also offering lifetime warranties, which is an added selling point. Going green is a very popular theme today and the brick manufacturers also offer many products that are permeable. The brick and block manufacturers continue to create new styles and color options to give customers a wide array of options,” he says. H&H

inspiration for the Great Outdoors

A visit to Sequoia Out Back puts homeowners on their way to the backyard oasis they always dreamed about.

SOME OF US HERE IN THE NORTHEAST enjoy the changes that come with all of the different seasons, but others just don't want to deal with temperatures in the 20s or the threat of a blizzard every other week during the colder months.

For those who are counting down the days until spring, nothing beats the winter blues—other than a trip to the islands—quite like a visit to Sequoia Out Back's stunning showroom. It is the perfect spot to forget about the snow and slush on the ground, plan a backyard oasis and daydream about the warmer days ahead.

The 30,000-square-foot showroom has no comparison on the East Coast, and as impressive as it seems on the company website, it has to be experienced in person to get the full effect. That's why it comes as no surprise that some people journey hundreds of miles just to see it.

"People will come to check our showroom out just for the experience," owner John Keller says. "There's nothing like it anywhere, so it's worth the trip for sure. No one who makes a long trip to get here is ever disappointed.

"This is the best time to come see what we have to offer. This is when we have the most inventory of furniture, and if you're building a deck or patio you want to give yourself enough lead time so you can enjoy it when the warmer weather arrives."

Keller has vast experience in the outdoor arena dating back to his days as a deck builder. In 1998, he opened Sequoia Supply—one of the premier retailers of decking and railing products in the country—and he added Sequoia Out Back 10 years later to offer everything imaginable for outdoor living.

That includes beautiful, high-end furniture from popular brands like Gensun, Tropitone, Winston, Lane Venture, Pride, Woodard and many more. Fire pits and outdoor kitchens continue to be in demand for outdoor living spaces, and all of the necessary components can be found at Sequoia, such as a full line of grills and smokers. No outdoor space is complete without a shade element, and Sequoia has you covered with pergolas that not only add relief from the sun but an attractive design element as well.

Dozens upon dozens of displays are set up in the showroom complete with decking, railings, furniture and a faux-blue sky overhead to give customers a genuine feeling about the products.

“When we set out to build this showroom, our goal was really to make it life-like,” Keller says. “The displays are the size of the decks you would build in your backyard so you can get a good idea of how it’s going to look and feel on your own house. We also have all the amenities and furnishings once your deck or patio is finished.”

Keller and his team have worked tirelessly over the winter to update all of the displays and ensure the latest and greatest products on the market are being showcased. In terms of decking, Sequoia works with all of the leading manufacturers—such as Trex, TimberTech, Wolf, Zuri and Fiberon—who continue to develop different styles and dazzling colors.

People will come to check our showroom out just for the experience.

There’s nothing like it anywhere, so it’s worth the trip for sure.”

— John Keller, owner

Keller is also excited about the new composite boards being offered that are closer in price to pressure-treated wood. “Although it’s the opposite in this area, across the country pressure-treated wood is still by far the leading product used for decking,” he says. “So Trex and TimberTech came out with new composites at a lower price point that we have installed in our showroom. In addition to being aesthetically pleasing, homeowners are drawn to these composites because there’s a lot less maintenance than with pressure-treated wood.”

Sequoia welcomes customers of every type, from those looking to start a DIY project to those who have been sent by their contractor to make product selections. A knowledgeable and friendly staff is on hand to answer any and all questions.

“It’s not really a showroom for browsing,” Keller says. “Most people need help and we are here to guide each one every step of the way. Backyards are big right now—everybody wants to be outside. We want to help them get the relaxing space they desire.” H&H

New Castle Artisan

by Brittany Ann Morrissey

Over the years, harsh weather can cause cracks and other damage on a home's concrete surfaces. Homeowners may put off repairs due to cost concerns, but replacing that concrete is not always the answer. Gwen Kunkel, owner of New Castle Artisan, can breathe new life into your existing surfaces—whether it's your driveway, pool deck, patio; practically any concrete surface around your home—with improved products and techniques. House & Home spoke with Kunkel about the economic and aesthetic value of concrete resurfacing.

Why would someone want to resurface concrete versus replacement?

The benefit of resurfacing is instead of just fixing a problem like cracking, pitting or damage from mold, you can make a home improvement. Right now if you have concrete that's cracked or un-level, you can repair or replace it with new concrete, but you'll just have new concrete. It doesn't increase the curb appeal of your home. It doesn't increase the value of your home. With resurfacing, we add design and we carve the cracks into the existing pattern after we repair them, so you've got something that looks like you spent money to do a home improvement and not just a home repair. That makes it more valuable financially and aesthetically.

Gwen Kunkel and brother Paul Randall of New Castle Artisan

Why do you use polymer cements?

Our polymer cements are the best alternative for exterior projects because they resist erosion. Applied properly, they do not peel, flake or delaminate. They are absorbed into the existing concrete, grow spines that expand creating a new cement surface that is incredibly durable as well as stain and chemical resistant.

How much experience do you have?

We've been doing projects for 28 years in the South Jersey area.

How long does your work last?

Resurfacing has been around since the 1960s. It is not new technology but I have personally had jobs down for over 25 years in South Jersey. We offer a two-year warranty that can be extended. If the bond is done properly, it will last a lifetime with some routine resealing maintenance.

You also resurface pool decks. How cost effective is that?

The cost to rip out and replace a pool deck is usually considerably more than resurfacing. Being that most pools are located in the backyard, just the concrete can cost up to 35 percent more because they have to wheelbarrow it in, which is labor intensive.

Will it ruin my landscaping or grass?

No. As a matter of fact, aside from it being beautiful, you wouldn't even know we were there. You don't have to take down any fences. We don't use any heavy equipment. Everything we bring is carried in and carried out, so your landscaping looks exactly the same.

Can you tell me about your flooring solutions for garages, basements and shower rooms?

Polymer cements are good interior options because they're highly durable and water resistant, which is great for basements and garages. Our products are applied by hand for a unique artistic touch that can be customized however you would like. We offer various styles from simple solid color flooring to textured finishes comparable to brick or natural stone.

What about your fireplace services and accent walls?

In the winter when we cannot be outside resurfacing exteriors, we do like to take on fireplace and accent wall projects. In as little as one day, we can transform an old brick fireplace to look like a beautiful stone custom centerpiece for your home. The same with our accent walls that can be designed to match existing decor or we can create a new style completely. H&H

Want Butterflies?

Planting gardens to attract wildlife can spark wonder, joy and fascination in you and your family.

by Chelsea Feast, Sales & Marketing for Elite Landscaping

Have you ever watched a butterfly emerge from a cocoon and spread its wings for the very first time? Have you watched a hummingbird flap its wings so rapidly while drinking nectar from a flower that it floats in place? Did you know that the plants you choose to put in your yard have a huge impact on the animals and insects you will get to see?

Plant diversity in your landscape is your best friend if your goal is to attract wildlife. The more plant diversity you have, the more butterfly and bird diversity you will have because you are providing a variety of food and habitat choices. Take a look at these photos above. Which family do you think will get to sit outside and enjoy seeing wildlife around them?

As a landscaper, many times I hear, "I want my yard to be low maintenance," but those same homeowners have primarily all lawn on their property. At first you might think that's a low-maintenance solution, but let's dive a little deeper. Grass has to be mowed every single week for about 30 weeks a year in New Jersey, which is very high maintenance! A garden has to be pruned about twice a year. Grass needs to be fertilized and treated for weeds multiple times a season to keep it healthy, green and pristine. A well-designed and mature garden bed needs very little weeding and fertilization.

A lawn provides us with the color green and then a brownish-yellow when it's dormant. A garden can be exploding with greens, purples, blues, pinks, yellows and more as well as provide structural interest throughout all of the seasons. Vast expanses of lawn have become a norm amongst homeowners in New Jersey; what happened to the Garden State? I challenge you as a homeowner to rethink your landscape. Where can you remove some lawn and replace it with beautiful gardens?

Many birds eat insects, seeds or berries. In order to attract birds to your yard, you need to provide them with an attractive food source and an added bonus—a home to nest. The same goes for butterflies—you not only want to provide them with a nectar source once they have transformed into butterflies, but you also should provide a food source for the caterpillars. Not all plants are created equal for providing food for our N.J. wildlife. Ideally, you want to choose plants that are native to the United States, not exotic plants from Europe and Asia. Native plants are familiar to our wildlife, so they recognize it as food.

A variety of native plants is the key to wildlife success:

BUTTERFLY HOST PLANTS

Milkweed • Asters • Viburnums
Spicebush (Lindera benzoin)
Purple top grass (Tridens flavens)
American Hackberry (Celtis occidentalis)

BUTTERFLY NECTAR PLANTS

Blazing stars (Liatris spp.) • Sunflowers (Helianthus spp.)
Coneflowers (Rudbeckia spp.)
Buttonbush (Cephalanthus occidentalis)
Hyssops (Agastache spp.)
Phloxes (Phlox spp.) • Tickseeds (Coreopsis spp.)

BIRD ATTRACTING PLANTS

New Jersey Tea (Ceanothus americanus)
Chokecherry (Prunus virginiana)
Holly-leaved Barberry (Mahonia aquifolium)
Cardinal Flower (Lobelia cardinalis)

Plant choices can have your yard booming with birds and butterflies or it can lead to a sterile-like landscape. Every homeowner has the power to provide an oasis for wildlife that brings so much joy, child-like fascination and entertainment in return.

If you want help designing and executing your wildlife garden, please give us a call! H&H
